

Tenafly High School student recognized among
The Best Research Projects in the United States

Jack Hyslop was chosen as a Science Talent Scholar by the Regeneron sponsored competition formerly known as Intel STS.

This is the most prestigious high school science contest in the U.S. Jack joins an elite group of only 300 students nationally.

For more information click here

<https://student.societyforscience.org/regeneronsts-scholars-2017>